Endorsements

Spring Arbor University offers three bachelor's level endorsements through the School of Graduate and Professional Studies: Criminal Justice; Hospitality Services Management; and Management of Health Care Systems. Learn more about these 12-credit endorsements below and find required courses for each endorsement on the reverse side. Not enrolled in one of SAU's undergraduate programs? Ask an admissions specialist about filling out a guest application.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE

The online criminal justice endorsement covers a range of topics, including the nature and societal impact of crime, a historical overview of criminology theory, current issues and practices in criminal justice systems, and political, administrative, organizational and cultural differences in state and national criminal justice systems.

HOSPITALITY SERVICES MANAGEMENT

The online hospitality services management endorsement is designed to introduce students to the fundamentals of management in the hospitality field, which include both the culinary and tourism industries. This endorsement is for those interested in pursuing entry-level management positions in hospitality services areas, as well as business professionals who may need these skills in their work with the hospitality industry.

MANAGEMENT OF HEALTH CARE SYSTEMS

The online management of health care systems endorsement covers managerial accounting and fiscal planning of health care costs, the organization and administration of health care systems, leadership and motivational theory, organizational structures, vision-casting and motivational theory — applied to both individual and group situations, compliance issues (including HIPPA), and health care philosophies. Also examined are issues of aging, education, religion, health promotion and psychological wellness.
